With regard to the Republican nomination for President Senator Knox makes a noise like one Barkis.

Doctors declare that "many a man has met his death from a kiss." Many more men, however, could tell the doctors that they are dying for a kiss.

It is given out in Washington that seven thousand postoffices in this country are in charge of women. An interview with them about what they have seen on postal cards would fill a book.

A court in Illinois has decided that a man must obey his father-in-law. This simply means that when a man's wife wants to be obeyed she will have her will executed through the old man.

Not that the naval uniform is not respected as the proper garb for the purpose for which it was intended, but that it is not down in the regulations for a dance run by a pavilion manager to suit himself.

Munchausen probably is glad he did not live to see the day business would be so dull at the White House that a statement would be given out reflecting on his veracity. 'Twere better to stand the roast where he is than to take a Teddy roast.

A professor of anatomy says "laughing will make a man fat." All Democrats have a chance to grow fat by laughing at the idea that the Republican friends of the tariff will ever revise it except in spots where it will not hurt the favored beneficiaries of the tariff.

We are again advised by the Chicago packers that the price of beef is going up. We knew from the start that the consumers would have to pay for the artistic sanitary inspection inaugurated under the government. The consumers are the same people who pay the tariff and also the freight.

The Star is glad to learn from the Whiteville News-Reporter of Thursday that its editor, Mr. F. T. Bizzell, is improving. He is in Richmond, Va., where he recently had an operation performed at the Memorial Hospital. The Star hopes to see him soon restored to his position of usefulness in his town.

Contrary to The Star's advice, the Administration at Washington has invested in a war balloon. We had suggested that if the powers would not consent to a limitation of naval armament, they should cut out the aerial battleship. As it turns out just as we expected it is useless to serve notice we are miffed.

At the second day's session of the Federation of Women's Clubs at the Jamestown Exposition on Thursday, no end of mirth was evidenced when Mrs. Mary Morton's report on legislation berated Speaker Cannon for blocking women's legislation before Congress and declared that he "ought to be dynamited." Uncle Joe probably will laugh, for he no doubt knows what it is to be blown up by a woman.

ROWLAND RELEASED

Raleigh Physician Charged With Murder of His Little Son at Henderson.

EVIDENCE INSUFFICIENT

Immediately Re-Arrested For Wake County Authorities to Be Tried For Alleged Poisoning of Engineer Strange—Notes.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 7.—The State Board of Agriculture decided today to send Secretary T. K. Bruner abroad to appoint and confer personally with agents to secure desirable immigrants, also send him with an exhibit and stereopticon views through the States of the Northwest. The Board refused to consolidate the experimental work with the A. & M. College experiment station.

Governor Glenn signed death warrants today for James Rucker, of Buncombe county, for criminal assault; Will Banks, of Ashe county, for the murder of Frank McMillan. Both hangings will occur on July 29th.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Joyner received news this afternoon of the horrible death of his 14-year-old niece, Lula Lee Joyner, at LaGrange. A lamp exploded last night, and she was so terribly burned that she died this morning. Three sisters, Misses Georgia, Lois and Sarah, and an aunt, Miss Lula Whitfield, were painfully but not dangerously burned trying to extinguish the flames. Mr. and Mrs. Joyner leave in the morning for LaGrange.

At Henderson Dr. D. S. Rowland was today released on the charge of poisoning his son, and was immediately re-arrested on a warrant from Raleigh, charging him with poisoning Engineer C. R. Strange.

Prof. W. A. Withers, chemist, and other witnesses went to Henderson this afternoon for the preliminary trial. Prof. Withers has just completed the analysis of the stomach of the boy. He could make no statement, however, as to his finding before he goes on the witness stand. Only two other witnesses went from Raleigh, L. P. Kidd, manager of the Metropolitant Life Insurance Company. Both are to testify as to suspicious circumstances in connection with insurance on the boy's life.

Now that the case against Dr. Rowland charging him at Henderson with poisoning his little son is dismissed, Chemist W. A. Withers having reported that he failed to find traces of poisoning in the stomach of the boy, which he analyzed, Dr. Rowland will be brought back to Raleigh at once under the warrant charging him with implication in the poisoning of Engineer Strange, whose widow he married three weeks after the death of the engineer. The case against Mrs. Rowland, charging her with being an accessory before the fact, in poisoning her former husband, Strange, is set for a hearing June 10th. However, there may be a postponement in order that preparation can be made to hear the charges against her and Dr. Rowland at the same time.

IMPORTATION OF MOLASSES.

Cargo Yesterday for C. C. Covington & Co., Direct From Barbadoes.

The British schooner Success arrived in port yesterday and is docked at the Custom House wharf, where she is discharging a full cargo of molasses imported direct from the Barbadoes by Messrs. C. C. Covington & Co., the well known importers of this city. The cargo consists of 483 puncheons, 73 hogsheads and 66 barrels of very fine molasses, and is for the large trade in this and other States enjoyed by the firm. The cargo is being discharged in the warehouse of the Custom House, and is being done under the supervision of United States officers, as the import duties have to be carefully arrived at. The molasses is of the new crop Barbadoes and the big puncheons and hogsheads are being hoisted over the side of the vessel by the steam apparatus of the Acme Tea Chest Company. Messrs. Covington & Co. are the only direct importers in the State, and the cargo received yesterday is the first for the season. Messrs. Covington & Co. do no mixing or blending and ship the product just as it comes from the sugar and cane fields of the islands.

The Cape Fear Academy, one of Wilmington's oldest and most successful educational institutions of a private nature, closed its thirty-fourth annual session yesterday morning. G. Jordan, P. G. Jordan, E. T. Savage and John L. Galloway did not receive a demerit during the year. L. G. Jordan, P. G. Jordan, J. G. Fennell, W. G. Bellois, J. L. Galloway and Orin R. INTERRED AT FAISON, N. C.

Remains of Mr. E. L. Faison Brought From New Mexico.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Clinton, N. C., June 7.—The body of Edward L. Faison, the only son of the late Capt. E. L. Faison, of Elliott, N. C., was interred in the Clinton cemetery today. He died at Santa Fe, New Mexico, on Friday, May 30, and the body reached here yesterday. Funeral services were conducted today from St. Paul's Episcopal Church by the Rev. C. L. Arnold. The Masonic fraternity of which Mr. Faison was an honored member and a Shriner, took charge of the body at the church and performed the usual ceremonies at the cemetery. The attendance was unusually large, as Mr. Faison was widely known and has many friends and relatives here, which was his former home. The flowers which were furnished by Washington florists and by friends here, were most beautiful in design and in great abundance.

Edward L. Faison was the son of the late Capt. E. L. Faison, and leaves an aged mother, a widow and one sister, the wife of Ex-Senator Marion Butler, who came from Washington to attend the funeral. The deceased was only 36 years old, and in the prime of his usefulness. He was a first honor graduate of Lehigh University, and a mining and civil engineer. At the time of his death and for some years prior thereto he was general examiner of the government public surveys, under the land office, and a trustworthy and valuable public official.

BITTEN BY A DOG.

Mrs. Lizzie Darby Goes to Pasteur Institute for Treatment.

Mrs. Lizzie Darby was bitten and severely wounded on the left arm by a vicious dog which attacked her at her home Second and Ann streets Thursday afternoon. While the dog had previously shown no signs of hydrophobia before attacking Mrs. Darby, she had it immediately killed and has gone to the Pasteur Institute at Richmond for treatment as a precautionary measure. Parts of the dog's anatomy were also taken to Richmond in order that it may be ascertained definitely whether or not the animal was mad. Friend of Mrs. Darby hope that no serious results will follow the bite of the dog.

A CONFERENCE HELD

Water Committee of Board of Aldermen Negotiating For Purchase of Plant.

LAST NIGHT AT CITY HALL

Existing Company Prepared to Sell Out on Reasonable Terms to Be Determined By Expert Board. Sewerage Not Considered.

An important conference of the Water Works Committee of the Board of Aldermen, composed of Messrs. T. W. Wood (chairman), C. P. Bolles and J. A. Karr, was held last night in the Mayor's office at the City Hall with Secretary and Treasurer George W. Kidder, and Superintendent W. F. Robertson and other officers and stockholders of the Clarendon Water Works Company. At this meeting negotiations were opened for the purchase by the city of the present water system of the company and as a result of the same it appears that there will be no trouble at arriving at what is just and equitable to both sides in the transaction. It was stated by a member of the committee that the gentlemen from the water company met the Aldermen in perfect good faith and manifested a disposition to sell at what is reasonable if the municipality thinks the ownership of this public utility is desirable at this time. The conference lasted for something over two hours and all matters were gone carefully into with the result that it was decided to hold another conference soon at which the actual negotiations will begin, the work last night having been largely preliminary.

The idea seems to be to appraise the value of the existing plant by a board of experts to come from outside the State, one to be named by the municipality, one by the company and in case these two fail to agree upon a purchase price to call in a third engineer of equal disinterestedness. This is the manner prescribed in the contract for the purchase of the plant by the city and it appears no doubt but that this course will be pursued. The question will be as to whether or not the city and water company, either or both, will be bound by the action of this board of appraisers after a valuation is set. These are matters, however, which will come up in the final determination of the question.

When the committee shall have decided upon these matters of detail, a report will be made to the Board of Aldermen and then the two Boards will affirm or reject the manner of arriving at a purchase price. It is expected that several months will be required to complete the negotiations, which are entirely by the two Boards instead of by the Commission provided in the bond issue act. The Commission takes hold only after the purchase of the plant is determined upon or the city has decided to install an entirely new system. However, it is thought best to name the Commission at as early a date as possible so that members of the same may follow the negotiations from their incipency and be acquainted with all details of the work in conference with the regular Water Works Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

Chairman Wood, of the Committee, said last night that no steps would be taken in the immediate future for the purchase of any existing sewerage plants, if any were taken at all. The water deal will be settled first and then the matter of sewerage will be taken up.

Comfort for Those Who Sew.

The Wilmington Wall Paper Company, opposite City Hall, is showing an exceedingly ingenious little device in the form of an attachable fan for sewing machines. The fan is manufactured by the Weiss Machine Fan Company, of New York, and is geared so that its motive power is furnished itself, ensuring comfort for those who for diversion or necessity are required to sew during the Summer. One of the little machines has been rigged up to a machine in the office of the Wilmington Wall Paper Company, where it is being shown to parties interested. It sells for $2 and later the company will have a canvass made for the sale of the machine fan in the city.

Cuninggim, presiding elder of the Wilmington District, requests the announcement of the following appointments for quarterly conferences: New River Circuit, Sneed's Ferry, June 15th and 16th; Shallotte circuit, Village church, June 22nd and 23rd; Waccamaw circuit, Clarendon, June 29th and 30th; Scott's Hill, Acorn Branch, July 6th and 7th; Fifth Street Church, July 7th at night; Town Creek Circuit, Macedonia, July 13th and 14th; Southport, July 14th and 15th, Richlands and Jacksonville, Haw River, July 20th and 21st.

SEA KING HAS ARRIVED

Handsome New Steamer of Capt. Edgar D. Williams Reached Home Post Yesterday—Splendidly Equipped for Towing.

The Sea King, the splendid ocean-going tug boat recently purchased in Baltimore by Captain Edgar D. Williams to take the place of the steamer Marion lately sold to parties at Mobile, Ala., reached port yesterday afternoon between 2 and 3 o'clock. Blasts from steam whistles in the harbor and on the water front heralded the approach of the latest addition to the local fleet and when the Sea King tied up at foot of Chestnut street a few minutes later a goodly number of wharf and up-town people were present to welcome Captain Williams with the new tug, which presents a fine appearance and is one of the best of her class afloat. The trip down the coast from Norfolk was taken liesurely, though the boat attained an average speed of something like eleven and a half knots per hour. On board were Captain Edgar D. Williams, owner and master; Chief Engineer E. D. Warren; Joe Warren, assistant engineer; Joe Arnold, of Southport, mate, and Fleet Williams, second mate. Then there were the required number of firemen and deck hands.

The Sea King is thoroughly equipped for towing and wrecking and Captain Williams has every reason to feel proud of his new purchase. She was built at Baltimore in 1902 and is as good today as she was when she was launched. She is 92.6 feet long, 21.8 feet breadth, 10.4 feet depth of hold, 124 gross and 84 net tons register. Her indicated horse power is 340 and her boilers are of the latest Scotch type. She has fore and aft compound engines with all modern equipment, including steam reverse gear and a steam capstan for hauling in the hauser. Her fresh water capacity is 15,000 gallons and she will bunker about 90 tons of coal. In every respect the Sea King will meet the requirements of the port for many years and it is good that a powerful tug of the type of the Sea King is to be located here permanently.

The Sea King goes into immediate commission and her first work at the port will be in shifting the Clyde Liner from her dock to the Cape Fear mill at 5:30 o'clock this morning.

NEGRO CHILD KILLED.

Seven-Year-Old Boy Playing With a Pistol Ended His Life.

Yesterday afternoon a little after 3 o'clock Emmons Collins, a seven-year-old colored boy, a son of Archie Collins, an employe at the Atlantic Coast Line coal chute, shot and instantly killed himself with a 38-calibre bull dog revolver, which he had taken out of a bureau drawer in the house of his aunt, near Seventh and Harnett streets, and which he was playing with in a bed room of the house. His aunt with whom the child lived was ironing in a front room of the house and did not know of the child's danger until she heard the report of the pistol and hastened to the back room, finding the little fellow in the last agonies of death. The ball took effect just above the right ear and penetrated the brain. Mr. C. R. Pape, who has a store in the vicinity, telephoned the police station of the accident and the coroner in turn was notified, but as death was purely from an accident no inquest was deemed necessary, and the body was turned over to the family for burial.

SEASHORE'S MERRY OPENING.

Fifty or Sixty Couples and Many Spectators at Beach Last Night.

The formal opening of the Seashore Hotel last night was a perfect success in every particular. The weather was perfect for life by the seaside, and the dance which was a feature of the opening was participated in by between fifty and sixty couples while there were more than that number of spectators. Prof. Webber's Orchestra played elegant dance music, and the improvements in the ball room were quite noticeable. The hotel is rapidly filling with guests, and a great number of other arrivals are expected during the coming week. The improvements at the hotel are numerous and the cuisine is excellent. In the kitchen Manager Hinton has a corps of all white cooks and chefs from New York city.

STREET COMMISSION

Board af Audit and Finance Elected Capt. Louis Belden and Mr. R. H. Brady.

ALDERMEN MEET TO-NIGHT

Arrangements Under Way For Continuing Improvement—Board to Meet Between Now and Next Tuesday Evening.

Following a conference of the members of the body, an open special meeting of the Board of Audit and Finance was held last night at the City Hall at which Captain Louis Belden and Mr. R. H. Brady were elected as members of the Street Commission from the Fourth and Fifth wards of the city, respectively, under the new act passed at the late session of the General Assembly. Members of the Board first met in conference and the result of the deliberations therein were not given out for publication except that a number of names were suggested and the proposed appointees were discussed at some length. Then followed the open meeting and what was agreed on in conference was formally ratified, viz: the appointment of Captain Belden and Mr. Brady.

Both are gentlemen of exceptional ability and their selection by the Board will no doubt give eminent satisfaction to the public. Captain Belden is a close student of public affairs and has served in public non-political capacities before, being now one of the Board of Tax Assessors for Wilmington township and a gentleman of excellent judgment. Mr. Brady was formerly a member of the Board of Audit and Finance from the Fifth ward and is experienced in construction work, being a contractor by trade and a man of wide experience in such affairs.

Among the names suggested from the Fourth ward were those of Captain Walter G. MacRae and Mr. Martin S. Willard, but as both are members of the Board of Managers of the Hospital and the act specifies that members of the Commission must in no way be connected with the city government, their election was out of the question. Besides the eminent fitness of Captain Belden for the position was easily recognized and his election was regarded one of the very best that will be made in the entire city. There were present at the meeting of the Board all members except Mr. McNair, who was out of the city.

Under the Street Commission act the Board of Audit and Finance names the members from the Fourth and Fifth wards and the Board of Aldermen chooses the members from the First, Second and Third wards. The Aldermen are called for a conference tonight at 8:30 o'clock at which the situation as to the wards named will be discussed and an agreement will be reached for formal action at a meeting which Mayor Springer stated yesterday would be held not later than Tuesday night of the coming week. When the Aldermen name their men the Street Commission will be complete and it is said with authority that some means will be devised by which the street work, at least in a limited way, will go on until the bond issue is available. City Attorney Marsden Bellamy, Jr., has been asked for an opinion as to whether or not the Commission can be placed in possesion of current funds for this purpose to be reimbursed from the bonds when they are sold, and it is stated that his opinion will be favorable to this arrangement. It is expected that the opinion of Mr. Bellamy will be presented at the conference tonight and that something definite as to street improvement will be known before the end of the week.

As to members of the Street Commission to be appointed by the Aldermen there are few rumors as to who will get the places. These are to be named by all the Board and it will be the endeavor to get the very best men in the respective wards. The compensation of members of the Commission is fixed by the Board of Audit and Finance which will consider this phase of the question when the Commission is complete as to members. It is understood, though, that the work is regarded by the Board of Audit and Finance as highly important and that a reasonable compensation will be fixed so that the gentlemen named will feel warranted in devoting at least a part of their regular business hours to the work.

Immanued Presbyterian Church.

The bazaar given the past two nights at Immanuel Presbyterian Church by the young ladies of the choir for the benefit of a fund with which to purchase chairs, closed last evening, after a delightful success of the aair. On Tuesday of the coming week the Sunday School of the congregation will have its annual outing at Carolina Beach. All friends are invited.

GRAY AND JOHNSON.

The Star several weeks ago called attention to the availability of Judge Gray, of Delaware, and Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, for the Democratic nomination for President and Vice President, respectively. They are two strong men, and we are glad to note that the press is now favorably discussing those two able and distinguished gentlemen. The more that is known of their strong characters and their eminent ability, high qualifications, together with an understanding of the logic of their availability, the better they will be liked. The Democracy is by no means short on candidates of the right type, and while The Star does not detract from the capabilities and fitness of many other distinguished Democrats, it can say that in Gray and Johnson the party would go into the 1908 campaign with a Presidential offering that would command the attention and support of the Democrats of the entire Republic and win support from the large element that swings the election one way or the other.

The Charleston News and Courier noticing an editorial in a Mississippi paper, makes some wise and timely references to the possibilities for the Democratic nomination next year. In its references to the subject, it joins the Gray and Johnson ranks. Says our esteemed Charleston contemporary in an editorial headed, "Some Advice from Mississippi":

"While Col. Bryan delicately intimates that he is open to importunities to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President, signs become more numerous that the Democrats are discovering that he is not the exclusive possibility. Some weeks ago we remarked that enthusiasm for Bryan was lacking in the South and it is plain now that the discussion of other names is day by day convincing the party that to dispense with the Nebraskan would not spell disaster in its ugliest form. Col. Bryan has committed himself so far by extolling the "Roosevelt policies" that he finds the task of pointing out their fallacies awkward and painful. In short Col. Bryan's utterances made the John Temple Graves proposal that Bryan nominate Mr. Roosevelt not only logical, but inevitable, and the impact of the Graves logic was so heavy in Chattanooga that it unsettled Col. Bryan's balance, rendering him for the time powerless to answer the Georgian save with weak evasion and qualification. Consequently Col. Bryan will discover himself beset with difficulties more and more in his present attempts to contrast the "Roosevelt Policies" with Bryan Democracy. He cannot sunder what he has himself welded in the popular mind.

"The Meridian, Miss., Star, in a well considered editorial article, declares for Gray and Johnson as the ticket—a declaration which reveals marked common sense in these times of Democratic incoherence. Here is on the one hand the Delaware jurist, strong with workingmen of the North, sharply antagonized by Wall Street on account of his independent and popular course in the insurance elections last Summer and yet known as a man of learning and high character, who rebelled against the free silver fallacy. Moreover, it is practically certain that Judge Gray would bring back Delaware to its place in the Democratic column. On the other hand the Governor of Minnesota, an organization Democrat, always regular, has demonstrated his ability to carry his far Northern State in two elections, the last time overwhelmingly, and he has declared that tariff reform should be the issue of the campaign, upon which it is probable taht three or four other States in the neighborhood of the Great Lakes would support him.

"Col. Bryan can carry the solid South, not necessarily including Maryland and certainly not West Virginia, and no more. Gray and Johnson, or Johnson and Gray, if preferred, could carry the Solid South and without doubt the States of Minnesota, Maryland and Delaware. Upon such a ticket, whether Johnson or Gray head it, nothing is in the way to hinder cordial and fighting union between the two wings into which the party separated in 1896. The "Bryan Democrat,' if he is a Democrat, indeed, can follow the Minnesota 'regular' and the 'Gold Democrat' can support Gray. Meantime, both are Democrats in their uncompromising opposition to the centralistic policies of Roosevelt which menace the rights of the States under the Constitution, both are tariff reformers of approved record and by clear conviction, and both are free of the tainting endearments of the 'Wall Street crowd.'

"We repeat, the Mississippian has shown presence of mind and spoken a practical word in a day of confusion."

All of the above is exceedingly interesting and timely. We may as well speak out and understand the situation and make our nominations advisedly if we expect to win the Presidency next year. Judge Gray's irreproachable character, great learning, high integrity and eminent legal attainments would make him a formidable candidate. He would not only merit the support of all classes, but there is little doubt that he would carry the labor vote of the country. In Governor Johnson he would have an able, strong and popular running mate. The Governor is now the only Democratic executive north of Mason and Dixon's line, and his strength is indicated in Minnesota by the fact that in 1904 when Roosevelt carried the country by a tidal wave and carried Minnesota by 161,464 majority, Governor Johnson was elected Governor by a majority of 6,352. Two years later, in 1906, Governor Johnson was re-elected by the astonishing majority of 76,633. That shows how he stands in his home State, and when we are looking for a candidate for either the head of the ticket or for second place, it would be wise to consider him. Like Judge Gray, he is well qualified for either President or Vice President, and we are satisfied that with either Judge Gray at the head or Johnson at the head the Democratic party could go into the fight with confidence.

TEXTILE INSTRUCTION.

It is gratifying to note that the technichal training which our young men get at the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, is of a character that fits the student for a profitable career for himself and for the benefit and advancement of the industrial branches in our State. As one instance of what the A. & M. is doing, we quote the following from Thursday's Charlotte Observer:

"The textile department of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts is regarded by well informed cotton mill men as one of the best in the country. The quality of work that is being done there is evidenced by the samples of fabrics made by students which have just been received in the city. They were designed and woven by the young men and are a great credit to the institution."

Surely Dr. Winston's college is doing a splendid work, and of it Prof. Thomas Nelson, director of the textile department, writes The Observer:

"I am especially desirous that the work of our school shall be known to the manufacturers and mill men of our State, so that they may know that the instruction given is not only theoretical, but practical. All our graduates have secured employment and at least 75 per cent. of the remainder have gone to work in different mills in the State during the Summer vacation so as to obtain other practical experience."

We cannot get too much of such training for the young men of North Carolina.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

The American Review of Reviews for June is a capital number of that strong magazine. Dr. Albert Shaw, the editor, is peculiarly and generously edifying in his score of articles on "Progress of the World." In these articles he keeps us abreast of the leading questions and events of the day and when one has followed him, he is en rapport with the times. Then there are scores of contributed articles, among some of them being one on "Telephone Without Wires," "America at The Hague Conference," "President Roosevelt on Railroad Investments," "To Europe B. Way of Hudson Bay," etc. This is only an intimation of the excellence of this great magazine, which is sent to subscribers a year for $3 and can be found on sale at 25 cents per copy. Address Review of Reviews Co., 13 Astor Place, N. Y.

TWINKLINGS.

—Maggie—"Say, Mayme, what's a manicure parlor?" Mame—"Oh, that's the swell name for a hand laundry."—Kansas City Star.

—Young Wife—And do you really and truly love me, darling? Old Husband—Certainly, my dear. How much do you want?—Illustrated Bits.

—Mr. Crimsonbeak—But you know, you can only die once. Mrs. Crimsonbeak—Of course, I know that. I hope you didn't think I was a cat?—Yonkers Statesman.

—Hippo—I'm so fat that it nearly bankrupts me every time I have to buy a shirt. Giraffe—But think of me when I have to buy a collar!—Kansas City Times.

—Nell—Yes, she said her husband married her for her beauty. What do you think of that? Belle—Well, I think her husband must feel like a widower now.—Catholic Standard and Times.

—"Yes," said Nagget, "a woman usually treats her husband as the average servant treats bric-a-brac." "I'm listening," replied Mrs. Nagget. "What's the answer?" "The more he's worth the more she tries to break him."—Catholic Standard and Times.

—Hawkins—Oh, well, Bjenks isn't such a bad fellow, after all. Dawkins—What makes you say that? Hawkins—Well, he wouldn't lend me the $10 that I asked him for, but he didn't take advantage of the opportunity to give me good advice—Somerville Journal.

—Late Arrival—What is that man over there, Mrs. Upmore, that everybody appears to be so eager to meet? Hostess—Is it possible you don't know? That is Mr. Percollum, the man who wrote a short story for a magazine without putting an automobile in it.—Chicago Tribune.

Female Discord

that is, discord in a woman's organs or functions, is simply another name for disease, but it expresses what perhaps you have never thought of, and that is, the jangling irritation of your nerves, when your organs are out of tune. Health is harmony. Every organ must do its work; every function must be natural, otherwise you need to tune you up again, and bring harmony into your discordant system. Cardui does this in a natural manner, because it is a natural remedy, for diseases peculiar to women. It acts directly on your organs, heals and cures them, regulates the functions, helps to make you well. Mrs. James Johnson, of Mt Olive, Ark., writes: "I suffered great pain in my head and back from female trouble, and could not sit up, but one bottle of Cardui brought me precious relief." Try it.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—A family is very useful to teach a man not to throw away any money on himself.—New York Press.

—So far, neither the inventor of the "Teddy bears" nor the author of the "Roosevelt bear" has been classed as a nature faker.—Washington Herald.

—It is recalled that Paul du Chaillu was called a liar for his description of the gorilla. He survived the epithet, however. The dog it was that died.—Boston Herald.

—In view of the almost contemptuous indifference with which the professional politicians looked upon the entry of Mr. Horne in the gubernatorial race, it is rather amusing to see the strength he is developing.—Greensboro Industrial News (Rep.)

—The Hon. Tommy Watson should not be so hard on our Mary Ann now. He is doing the country more good than ever before now. He is the Chief "diliget gitter" for Teddy down South and is doing much good to the country by disintegrating the Republican forces. As a full fledged Republican he was most helpful during the recent campaign and as chief owner of the only daily Republican newspaper South he will do the South much more good. Hon. Tommy Watson must give him "more rope" yet.—Warsaw (N. C.) Duplin Journal.

—We have never had any particular admiration for Gen. Fred Funston. He always impressed us as being a sort of stage hero, and therefore more or less theatrical. His one exploit, the capture of Aguinaldo, which brought him into greatest prominence, was marked by deceit and treachery. But, recently, General Funston has performed an act that puts him in a most favorable light. A few days ago it was his turn to be promoted to a higher rank. The officer who stood next to him in the order of promotion though his senior in years but his junior in rank, stood little chance of rising any higher in grade. Funston wrote to the war department and magnanimously requested that this officer be promoted instead of himself. We therefore gladly reverse our opinion of General Funston.—Columbia Record.

GIVING OUT.

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Wilmington.

Around all day with an aching back;
Can't rest at night;
Enough to make any one "give out."
Doan's Kidney Pills will give renewed life.
They will cure the backache;
Cure every kidney ill.
Here is Wilmington proof that this is so:

E. Poezolt, merchant tailor of Eight South Front street, residing at 315 North Sixth street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "My wife used Doan's Kidney Pills and in her case they proved to be an effective remedy. She suffered with her ankles and could scarcely get down stairs in the morning. We thought it was rheumatism, and her ankles would be all pulled up every morning, so she could hardly hobble around. Since obtaining Doan's Kidney Pills at R. R. Bellamy's drug store and taking them she seems like another person. She is better in the morning, the swelling left her ankles and from the great relief she obtained we are only too glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

SILK OF THE SPIDER.

The Delicate Machinery That Spins the Liquid Threads.

The spider is able to secrete at least three colors of silk stuff—the white, which forms the web, and the enswathement of captives and the egg cocoon; the brown mass that fills the cocoon interior and the flossy yellow between that and the inside of the sac. The glands end in minute ducts which empty into spinning spools regularly arranged along the sides and upon the tips of the six spinnerets, or "spinning mammals," or "spinning fingers," which are placed just beneath the apex of the abdomen. The spinnerets are movable and can be flung wide apart or pushed closely together, and the spinning spools can be managed in the same way.

The silk glands are infolded in muscular tissue, pressure upon which, at the will of the spider, forces the liquid silk through the duct into the spool, whence it issues as a minute filament, since it hardens upon contact with the air. One thread as seen in a web may be made up of a number of the filaments and is formed by putting the tips of the spools together as the liquid jets are forced out of the ducts. When the spinnerets are joined and a number of the spools are emptied at once their contents merge, and the sheets or ribbons are formed which one sees in the enswathement of a captive or the making of Argiope's central shield. This delicate machinery the owner operates with utmost skill, bringing into play now one part and now another and again the whole with unfailing deftness and a mastery complete.—Dr. H. C. McCook in Harper's.

A QUEER HOUSE.

The Novel and Famous Fossil Bone Cabin in Wyoming.

"The queerest house in the world," said a zoologist, "is undoubtedly the famous bone cabin in Wyoming, near the Medicine Bow river. This cabin's foundations are built of fossil bones.

"Bones of dinosaurs—jaws of the diplodocus, teeth of the brontosaurus, knuckles of the ichthyosaurus, vertebrae of the camarasaurus, chunks of the barosaurus, the cetiosaurus, the brachiosaurus, the stegiosaurus, the ornitholestes or bird catching dinosaur—all entered into this wonderful cabin's foundations, making it the most curious and most costly edifice in America.

"This hut was built by a Mexican sheep herder who had happened by chance on the grandest extinct animal bed in the world. This was a plot about fifty yards square, wherein lay in rich profusion the bones of all the animals of the reptilian age. The heaviest and the lightest, the largest and the smallest, the most tranquil and the most ferocious, lay side by side.

"The place was evidently once a river bar, and the dead bodies that floated down the stream were here arrested to lie for hundreds of thousands of years till a sheep herder came along and, rooting among bones as big as bowlders, set about the building of the world's queerest cabin."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Grip Facts.

The grip is not simply a bad cold, and this fact is worth knowing. It resembles a cold in some respects, and colds are often wrongly diagnosed by the victims as grip. The grip is a malady which has laws of its own, both as to origin and progress after development. According to the doctors, it must run its course—"there is no special remedy that can directly destroy the infection, no drug that can kill the bacillus or neutralize its toxin." This also is worth knowing. The main thing is to nurse with care and give the system the best possible aid in its efforts to throw off the poison.—Baltimore American.

Not Thirsty.

Jane, the bright new maid, always anxious to please, had been intrusted with the care of a little aquarium, in which the goldfish had always thrived very well until Jane came on the scene. The first day she arrived she gave them fresh water, as instructed, and then left them to their own devices. But, alas, one morning the little fishes were found floating feebly on their backs. "Jane," called the anxious mistress, regarding her pets with concern, "have you given the fish any fresh water lately?" "No, ma'am. Bless their little hearts, they haven't drunk the water I gave them last month yet!"

A Normal Disadvantage.

"Why do reformers so often come to grief?"

"I have often asked the question," answered Senator Sorghum. "I think it must be because they take up politics as an incidental diversion instead of a regular business. It's the difference between the amateur and the professional."—Washington Star.

Shopping Politeness.

"Never point, my dear," said the mother gently.

"But, mamma," objected the little girl, "suppose I don't know the name of the thing?"

"Then let the salesman show you all he has in stock until he comes to the article that is desired."—New York Press.

The last advices are that the barge had broken in two and there was no chance of saving her. It is reported that the owners carried in the neighborhood of $3,000 insurance on the barge."

Spent Some Time in Wilmington.

The Associated Press dispatches to The Star yesterday morning contained an account of the asphyxiation of Arthur Ludewitz, a veteran returning from the Richmond reunion, in a New York hotel, night before last. The dispatch stated that he was a member of the famous "Louisiana Tigers" during the Civil War. Mr. Ludewitz is well remembered by a number of Wilmington people. He was a chiropodist and spent some time here in October, 1906, having made the acquaintance of quite a number of Wilmington veterans and done much professional work. The news of his death will be received with sorrow by his comrades whom he met while in Wilmington.

AT THE GUN CLUB TRAPS

Penny Still Leads in the Tournament For the Peters' Trophy—Holmes High Gun in Regular Events Yesterday Afternoon.

In spite of the ideal weather conditions, the weekly shoot of the Wilmington Gun Club yesterday afternoon at the traps near Delgado was barren of any special features, though the men who lined up on the range had a fine evening of sport. Mr. G. W. Penny is still high gun in the Peters' shoot, breaking 173 out of 250 targets exposed, and he did well in the average of the regular events yesterday afternoon, breaking 77 out of 100 targets. Mr. Lee Holmes, however, was high average of the regular for the afternoon with 85 out of a possible 100. Stokley was able to be on the range, but he is recovering from measles and did not shoot up to his usual high standard, breaking only 63 out of 75. The scores for the afternoon were as follows, the first two columns being the net results up to date in the Peters' shoot and the third and fourth columns being the result of the regular afternoon shoot, viz:

Justice Bornemann's Court.

An interesting case will be tried by Justice Bornemann this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Robert McNeill indicted William Parish for an assault and Parish in turn accused McNeill of assault with an axe and also an assault with a gun, alleging that the assaults were committed with intent to kill. The charges and counter charges grew out of a row between the men at the shingle mill of Mr. W. W. Koch Thursday about noon and a brother of McNeill, who was also involved in the row has been indicted by Parish for an assault with a stick. The case was set for trial yesterday evening at 7 o'clock but both sides agreed to postpone the hearing until this afternoon, and the trio were lodged in jail.

Without Regard to Etiquette

By OTHO B. SENGA

Copyright, 1906, by Homer Sprague

It was characteristic of Ross Brady that he laughed, although somewhat bitterly, as the gaudy auto car dashed by. He had received but the merest nod of recognition from Miss Danvers.

"Ross, my boy," he soliloquized, "you must have made a mistake in thinking you were invited to join this festive crowd."

He took a small envelope from his inner coat pocket and read portions of the note in a mumbling undertone, adding caustic comments as he proceeded:

"'My dear Ross.' M'm, dear Ross feels pretty cheap—about 23 cents' worth at the present moment! 'There will be a small party of us at Wiers from the 16th to the 27th.' Well, I'm only two days in the rear—not bad for a laboring man! 'It would be very pleasant if you could be there at the same time.' M'm, pleasant! I wonder just where the pleasure comes in! Well, here we are. Ross, brace up!"

He furtively flicked the dust from his shoes and ran lightly up the broad terraces to the hotel piazza.

He had hoped that Effie would wait for him. She must have known that he was on his way to call upon her.

The torturing minutes seemed hours, after he had sent up his card, and he felt the scarlet flood mount to his forehead again and again as some laughing girl stole a second glance at his handsome face and stalwart figure.

When Effie came down the stairs gowned in white she seemed to the embarrassed young fellow the embodiment of coolness and self possession.

Her greeting was hardly courteous, in degree removed from cordiality, and she spoke with some asperity.

"Why, Ross Brady, where are you staying? I expected you to register here!"

He crimsoned under the reproof of her voice and manner; then the square shoulders were set back, and the heavy chin hardened.

"You knew, Effie," gravely, "that I could not afford the rates here. I am at a farmhouse a mile away. I can be with you whenever you wish, Effie," pleadingly.

She seemed not to hear him.

"And your call just now, Ross," fretfully, "is wholly without regard to etiquette. I only came down to tell you that you can come again tomorrow, and be sure to send up two cards, one for me and one for Mrs. Lyons, the chaperon of the party.

He laughed shortly.

"Effie, the card I sent up is probably the last one I have. My vacation is necessarily a brief one, and"—

"Oh, Ross," in an excited whisper, "here comes Miss Van Vance! Do go! I mustn't be seen talking to you like this. She is from New York and awfully"—

Brady waited no longer. He bowed formally to Effie and turned sharply toward the door, meeting Miss Van Vance on the threshold.

She looked squarely into his eyes as they passed with an expression that he afterward recalled and wondered about.

She's a good deal older than Effie and those other girls," he mused. "I wonder"— Then he shrugged his shoulders impatiently. "What difference does it make anyhow? I'll write Effie a note. I was a donkey not to think about cards. I don't wonder she was annoyed. She wants to be correct about matters of etiquette, of course."

But Brady's honest heart was sore indeed on the following day when the messenger returned with no answer to the pleading little note he sent to Effie.

He put on a rough suit of flannel and started for a tramp, striding rapidly along the country road, his handsome face moody and forbidding.

The sound of wheels roused him from his unpleasant reflections.

"It is country etiquette," said a clear voice, "for one who drives to ask one who walks to 'have a lift.'"

He turned quickly. It was Miss Van Vance, seated in a light Stanhope, driving a high stepping bay. She smiled down into his astonished face, reined and turned the animal with a quick movement of her supple wrist, glancing invitingly at the seat beside her.

Brady had never before been challenged in just such a way, and his blood rose. His usual diffidence vanished; he stepped promptly into the vehicle and seated himself, saying easily, "Is it etiquette for the one who walks to introduce himself to the one who drives?"

"It isn't necessary," coolly. "You are Ross Brady; you were brought up on a farm in northern Vermont; you have studied all sorts of ologies and isms, and you are now taking the advanced course in metallurgy at the Harvard summer school."

"Who told you?" rashly.

"No one. I simply put two and two together. The sum is seven! I wasn't sure, but your question proves it."

"I am easily trapped," admitted Brady.

He felt a sudden sense of ease and confidence and of comradeship with this stately looking girl, and almost before he knew it he was pouring forth the whole story of his aims and ambitions, his plans and hopes, even to his love for little Effie Danvers and his chagrin at her cool reception.

Miss Van Vance listened interestingly, smiling half sadly.

"Mr. Brady," she said slowly, "I am older than you, and I have had, perhaps, wider opportunities for observing human nature. And I am like Samanthy Allen—I know women just like a book because I've been one quite a spell. It is a woman's nature to want a man to beat down all barriers, even those she herself has erected. Is the hint sufficient, Mr. Brady?"

"I think so," quietly, "and I thank you, Miss Van Vance."

He resolved to act upon the suggestion, yet it was two days before he summoned courage to go again to the hotel.

"Miss Danvers is not here just now," said the talkative bellboy. "That whole party is out on the lake—that is, they're gettin' ready to go. You'll find them, I guess, if you go down," pocketing a dime with accustomed celerity. "They're goin' in a launch."

For an instant Brady was tempted to go away. Then he thought of Miss Van Vance and ran quickly down the steps to the boat landing.

Miss Van Vance, standing on the float, greeted him delightedly.

"I am so glad you happened along. Can you spare the time to go around the lake with us?"

Brady surprised himself with the ready ease of his acceptance.

Miss Van Vance introduced him with an air of proprietorship. "My friend, Mr. Brady," adding, as she presented him to Miss Danvers, "The fact that you are both Vermonters ought to be an immediate bond between you two."

Poor little Effie colored and faltered. She dared not say they were old time friends in the face of Brady's some what formal acknowledgment of the introduction.

With delicate tact Miss Van Vance drew out Brady's gift for narrative, and he was soon in the midst of an absorbing story of a genuine wild fox hunt.

The other two young men of the party were seated in the bow of the launch, smoking.

Suddenly a sheet of flame shot high into the air. A lighted match had ignited the gasoline in the escape basin, and an explosion of the main tank seemed inevitable. The young fellow employed to run the launch was paralyzed with fear.

The girls shrieked in terror, and two or three sprang upon the seat to leap into the water.

"Sit down!" shouted Brady sternly.

He plunged his hand into the fire and turned the valve, thus stopping the flow of oil from the main tank. Then he threw himself against the flames wherever they appeared, beating them out with his coat and bare hands.

The other men, recovering from their momentary panic, wet their caps and assisted him.

Then some one screamed again, and Miss Danvers' clothing was seen to be on fire in the back. Brady instantly threw his arms around her, smothering the flames against his own body.

No one was more than slightly injured, except Brady. His arms and hands were quite badly burned, and the physician looked grave as he dressed them.

"I hope you will pardon the manner in which I embraced you, Miss Danvers," said Brady nonchalantly. "I fear it was hardly according to etiquette"— glancing humorously at Miss Van Vance.

"You are a splendid hero!" cried Mrs. Lyons hysterically. "Effie should be proud to be embraced by such a man."

"Even if he is an utter stranger," added Miss Van Vance significantly.

Effie threw back her girlish head defiantly and stepped to Brady's side.

"He is not a stranger!" she exclaimed, putting her hand caressingly on his shoulder. "Ross and I have been engaged ever since we were children. Only I—I"—

"Never mind, Effie," interrupted Ross tenderly; "you needn't try to explain."

"I congratulate you both," said Miss Van Vance cordially, "only," teasingly, as she held Effie's hand warmly in her own, "only, Miss Danvers, your manner of announcing your engagement is so wholly without regard to"—

Effie smiled brightly through her tears. "I know, Miss Van Vance, and I deserve a lesson. You have been a good friend to me."

"Better than you know, little Effie," murmured Miss Van Vance to herself as she turned away, "and the temptation was greater than you can possibly understand."

Wrestling With English.

A writer in the Boston Transcript recalls some amusing blunders foreigners make in using English. A Hungarian journalist, leading up to an account of an earthquake, told how merrily the evening had passed. Just before the crash came the ladies had retired to their rooms, whereas "we man was remaining in the coffee." A French dressmaker' advertised her work as "grand, elegant and swell." A polite and sympathetic Jap wrote, "I'm rather sorry you have been so ill," and a Parisian lady asked to be recommended as a teacher of French and added, with exquisite naivete, "I am not obliged to earn my life, but I want to have too strings to my arc." An excited Italian, when he had sent a manuscript with a page missing, wrote, "If anything like this happens again, notify me suddenly." These infelicities recall also the Mexican diplomat at Washington who affably remarked, "Your climate in Buffalo is wat you call deeficoolt, eh?"

Diplomatic.

An Irishman was recently traveling in a train accompanied by a minister, when two very stout ladies entered the compartment. They placed themselves one on each side of Pat, who was, of course, much crushed.

The minister, on seeing him so placed, said, "Are you sure you are comfortable, Pat?"

To this question Pat quickly replied, "Sure, your honor, I haven't much room to grumble."—London Answers.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Scotland Neck, June 6: Duke and Wilson Allsbrook, father and son, of Scotland Neck, N. C., the former 86 the latter 63 years old, both of whom went through the civil war, attended the reunion of the Confederate soldiers this week and the unveiling of the Davis monument. Both men are hale and hearty and seem to have promise of long life.

—Duplin Journal (Warsaw): We are glad to hear that the County Commissioners will build the county home out of brick instead of wood. The clay around Kenansville makes very fine brick and in this day and time it is far more cheaper to build with brick than with wood and much cheaper in the long run, as it saves fire insurance and paint and is far more lasting and permanent.

—Maxton Scottish Chief: Mr. Donald McQueen, of Grier County, Oklahoma, is spending a week or two in Maxton, the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. W. McQueen. He is a native of Alabama, but of Robeson county, N. C. stock, and hence a decendant of the Royal family. He is being inducted into the ways of Lumber River pan fish, and Scotland County fox.

—The tenth annual convention of the North Carolina Underwriters' Association is called to meet in Asheville on Thursday, July 11th. The Battery Park Hotel offers special rates and the low summer rates on the railroads will afford an exceptional opportunity for the agents to combine their summer outing in Western North Carolina with business and social enjoyment.

—Morehead City, June 6: The State Medical Board met at the Assembly Hall of the Atlantic Hotel this morning and began the two days' examination of 140 applicants for license to practice medicine in North Carolina. Of this number, one is a lady. The list breaks all records numerically. The State examining board is composed of Drs. Kent, of Lenoir; Sikes, of Grissom; Laughinghouse; Russell, of Wilmington; Battle, of Greensboro, and Parrott, of Kinston.

—Mr. William Dunn, of Newbern of the State Board of Agriculture, speaking of the trucking interests of his section says: "The weather greatly reduced the crop, and although the railroad facilities were no better than they have been during the past few years, there were sufficient cars to handle the greatly reduced movement of truck. The short crop sent prices booming and benefitted the Newbern section more than any other, as both to the north and to the south of that section the crops were more largely damaged. The cabbage market, which is usually only about two weeks in duration, was extended to three weeks and the Newbern truckers shipped over 100,000 barrels at $2.00 per barrel, bringing $200,000 for the cabbage crop.

—Smithfield, June 6: Allen Kendrick Smith died this afternoon after a lingering illness of several months. He was in the prime of life and was cut off in the midst of a useful career. He was register of deeds for four years; twice represented Johnston county in the Senate; organized and for six years was president of the Bank of Smithfield; at one time president of Smithfield cotton mills and was largely interested in many other enterprises in the county. He was one of the moving spirits of our town and will be sorely missed in politics, business and society. He was married in December, 1904, to Miss Daisy Wooten, of LaGrange, who with a son survives him. His remains will be taken to LaGrange for interment Saturday, where Mrs. Smith will make her future home with her parents.

—Hamlet, June 6: Monday night about thirty of the business men of the town met and launched a second bank for the town. The meeting was very enthusiastic and all present were of the same mind—that another bank was needed. It was decided to organize at once and build a house for the new institution. The new bank will be called the People's Bank, and will begin business on a paid up capital of $15,000. A charter has been applied for and it is expected that the People's Bank will open its doors for business within sixty days. The Bank of Hamlet is in a healthy condition and has recently increased its capital stock to $13,000. It has been a success from the beginning of its career, and it is confidently believed that both the new and old bank will do an increased business.

KEEP YOUR HEAD UNCOVERED.

The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propogates Dandruff Germs.

There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair; yet if the scalps of these same men once became infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Baldness would ensue as the final result. Newbro's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure and contains not an atom of injurious substance. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

The Greensboro Keeley Institute!

The Only one in North Carolina

Note of Warning

To The Public:

The Keeley Cure has now been in successful operation for 28 consecutive years and the merits and reputation of the Dr. Leslie E. Keeley Remedies have been throughly established. Because of this fact, many imitators are seeking to turn this knowledge to their own advantage by falsely claiming that they are able to sell and administer our remedies and treatment. It should be borne in mind that the Keeley Remedies are only to be obtained at establishments known by the uniform name of The Keeley Institute. There is one or more of these establishments in nearly every State in the Union, besides several in foreign countries. THERE IS ONLY ONE KEELEY INSTITUTE IN THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, AND THAT IS LOCATED AT GREENSBORO. At all Keeley Institutes the remedies used are procured from our laboratory, and in all cases they are administered by physicians who have been especially instructed by us. It follows, therefore, that all other establishments claiming to be able to sell our remedies and administer our treatment are obtaining money under false pretenses and will be dealt with accordingly. The public is warned that under no circumstances can Keeley remedies or treatment be obtained except at authorized Keeley Institutes. These imitators sometimes adopt similar names to those by which our remedies are known, but if patients will take pains to see that they are in an authorized Keeley Institute they need not fear imposition. The Keeley remedies will cure inebriety, all kinds of drug using, the tobacco habit and neurasthenia; they are never administered in hospitals and no patients are treated at Keeley Institutes for other than the above named diseases.

THE LESLIE E. KEELEY CO.,
Dwight, Illinois.

THE KEELEY INSTITUTE, at Greensboro, N. C., is the only one in this State, and all representations that there is in this State any cure that is identical with or the same as the Keeley Double Chloride of Gold Cure, are malicious, false and made for the purpose of deceiving. We learn with indignant regret that such claim is being made, and feeling that if it be hurtful to us it will prove even more disastrous to those who are deceived thereby, we sound this note of warning.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, June 7.—There was a very excited advance in July contracts in the cotton market today with that position selling above 12 cents for the first time this season and showing a gain from the low point of the morning of about 2.50 a bale. The close was a little off from the best with the tone steady at a net advance of 12 to 41 points on the general list. Sales were estimated at 600,000 bales. The opening was steady at a decline of 3 to 8 points in response to lower cables and a good weather map, but the market almost immediately rallied on unfavorable crop conditions report and inside of half an hour was selling about 9 points net higher. This was followed by some irregularity late in the morning, but in the early afternoon July became very strong and active on covering of shorts and bull support. It was rumored that big exporters were buying that position and that local stocks would be shipped abroad. Other rumors were circulating tending to indicate a corner in the near positions, and before the advance was checked July had sold at 12.61 or 51 points up from the low point of the morning, and 46 points over the closing figures of yesterday. The later months were comparatively quiet and at the best showed a net gain of only about 15 to 20 points owing, probably, to the favorable weather forecasts and expectations that continued good weather would lead to an improvement in crop reports. The into sight figures for the week were light.

Receipts at the ports today were 8,253 bales against 7,318 last week and 9,418 last year. For the week 30,000 bales against 52,780 last week, and 55,470 last year. Today's receipts at Houston 256 bales, against 1,029 last year.

Spot cotton closed steady 25 points higher; middling uplands 13.25; middling gulf 13.50; sales 3.66 bales.

Futures closed steady.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, June 7.—The retail trade in dry goods was better today owing to warmer weather, but conditions have forced a retrenchment in expenses and the discharge of several employees in some large houses. The primary cotton goods market holds firm, and active within the limits possible when goods are scarce. Samples of new clip wools are arriving. Fancy serges will be opened next week. The jobbing trade for the day was more active.

HARRY ORCHARD'S AWFUL RECORD

He Added More Crimes to That of Assassination, Murder, and Bigamy.

CONFESSED TO THIEVERY

Defense is Attempting to Break Down His Statements Made to Court on Wednesday and Thursday. Yesterday's Proceedings.

Boise, Idaho, June 7.—Counsel for W. D. Haywood continued their attack on the testimony of Harry Orchard at both sessions of the trial today and centered their strongest assault on the events beginning with the explosion in the Vindicator mine and ending with the earlier meetings betwen the witness and the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners in Denver. To the extent that traffic with "the other side" in the war of labor and capital in Colorado was discreditable, they succeeded in discrediting the witness.

Taking up the admission that Orchard made in direct examination that he had been treacherous to his comrades in Cripple Creek by tipping off a train wrecking plot, they developed the fact that Orchard entered the employ of D. C. Scott who had charge of the railway detectives. Orchard said that with Scott he had met K. C. Sterling, a detective in the employ of the Mine Owners' Association, and that Scott had paid his expenses and accompanied him to Denver on the trip when he first had met Moyer and Haywood. He said that he had agreed to report to Scott but that he was lying to him, never intending to make reports to him and never did make reports. The defence also tried to show that because he stood in with the other side, Orchard was never molested by the militia in Cripple Creek during the strike.

Orchard admitted that Scott had told him that if the militia interferred with him he was to send for him and that the militia never did interfere with him or search his house.

Orchard said that he went to Scott first because he had not been paid for his work at the Vindicator mine and he was jealous because he was given hard work like the Vindicator job, while other men got the simple task of train wrecking by displacing a rail. More crimes, great and small, were added to Orchard's record today. The Cripple Creek woman with whom he committed bigamy had three sons; Orchard stole high grade ore from a messmate; he stole two cases of power from the Vindicator mine; he stole powder to make one of the bombs thrown into the Vindicator coal pile and he told a lie.

The defense endeavored in various ways to throw the shadow of doubt and improbability around the whole Vindicator story and the alleged connection of W. F. Davis and William Easterly with the affair, and the circumstances under which Orchard testified he met Moyer and Haywood and was paid for the commission of the crime, and to discredit Orchard's story that he was sent back to Cripple Creek with unlimited credit and orders to commit any act of violence that he cared to. They confronted Orchard with Easterly and Downey Barnes and paved the way for the contradiction by them of the story told by Orchard, and several times during the day paved the way for the controvertion of his testimony on material points. Orchard stood the test and strain very well and hold tenaciously to the story he told yesterday and the day before.

Suddenly, toward the close of the day, the defense took up the trip Orchard made to Southern Colorado with Moyer in the early part of 1905 and showed that Moyer feared to go south unguarded because mine owners' official "thugs" had beaten up innocent union men and had sent for Orchard to aid in protecting him.

It was agreed that they should carry cut off shot guns and sit in the center of the railway car, so that if they were attacked they could defend themselves. Attorney Richardson in questioning the witness, made it very clear that this had been a perfectly straight proposition "free from any fake."

Counsel flared up several times during the day, and in the last passage at arms prosecutor Hawley said that Attorney Richardson told a falsehood when he intimated that Orchard was a fixed witness.

The trial goes on at 9:30 tomorrow, when the cross examination of Orchard, who has been on the stand for three days, will be concluded.

TRUST BUSTING CONCLAVE HELD

President Roosevelt Gathered His Lieutenants at White House Last Night.

TALKED TILL MIDNIGHT

Members of Cabinet and Interstate Commerce Commission Attended. Secretary Loeb Gave Out a Statement, But No Secrets.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Washington, June 7.—A notable conference on the subject of trust prosecutions was held at the White House tonight. Those who participated were President Roosevelt, Secretary of War Taft, Secretary of State Root, Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, Secretary of the Interior Garfield, Attorney General Bonaparte, Interstate Commerce Commissioners Knapp and Lane, and Frank B. Kellogg, of Minnesota, special counsel for the Government.

The conference continued from 9 P. M. until a few minutes before midnight. Secretary Taft on leaving announced that Secretary Loeb would issue a statement on the subject. Special Counsel Kellogg, who walked from the White House to his hotel, declined to state what had transpired at the meeting and referred all his questioners to the statement which Mr. Loeb was to promulgate.

Secretary Loeb at midnight issued this statement:

"The conference was held for the purpose of affording ample discussion concerning the matters which have been under investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Inter State Commerce Commission has not yet formulated its report and all of the discussion was of a purely preliminary kind. After a report has been made the Attorney General will of course carefully consider it."

The discussion took a very wide range. Much of the time was given to the Harriman Alton deal. Every phase of that transaction was thoroughly gone over and the discussion was participated in more especially by the President, Mr. Kellogg, Attorney General Bonaparte, Commissioners Knapp and Lane. The conclusion was promptly reached that however damaging the evidence might be against Mr. Harriman, the testimony he had given in the Interstate Commerce investigation had given complete immunity from criminal prosecution.

After leaving the White House, Attorney Sims was in conference with Attorney General Bonaparte at the Department of Justice for more than an hour. He refused to discuss this conference and the only comment Mr. Bonaparte would make was: "The conference related to matters pending in Mr. Sims' office at Chicago."

WITHDREW THEIR FIGHT.

Railroads Acquiesce in Order of the Georgia Commission.

Atlanta, Ga., June 7.—The railroads in Georgia late today withdrew their fight on reduced rates on stoves between two competitive points in the State, ordered by the Railroad Commission in July, 1905. The railroads secured from Judge Newman in the Federal court a temporary restraining order, but he suspended the hearing in the cases until mandamus cases could be tried in the State Court. Judge Pendleton in the Superior Court, ordered the railroads to obey the order of the commission, the Supreme Court a few days ago affirming this decision. The railroads will put the rates into effect about June 20.

FOUL MURDER AT HOPE MILLS

Malcom Morrison Killed and Body Left in Clump of Woods.

MISSING SINCE TUESDAY

Victim Was Over Eighty Years of Age and No Motive Can Be Assigned for Murder of Old Man.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Fayetteville, N. C., June 7.—The body of Malcolm Morrison, of Hope Mills, N. C., who has been missing from home since Tuesday, was found late yesterday afternoon in a clump of woods some distance back of No. 4 mill.

At the coroner's inquest it developed that the skull behind the left ear was crushed in, the ear itself being terribly mutilated and the left hand broken, the deceased having evidently placed that hand to his head in an effort to ward off the blows which were inflicted with a heavy blunt weapon.

No clue to the murderer was discovered. Morrison was over 80 years of age. No motive can be assigned for the crime.

Sheriff Watson and Mr. Herbert McDonald, the latter having been deputized to go to Hope Mills and hold an inquest, returned to Fayetteville, this afternoon bringing with them several witnesses who were examined later by Solicitor N. A. Sinclair. An inquest had previously been held by Dr. Gilbert, of Hope Mills, and after a view of the body and the examination of one witness, Neill Johnson, who found the body, a verdict was rendered to the effect that the deceased came to his death by foul means at the hands of some person or persons unknown to the jury. Why anybody should have any object in killing the aged man is unknown though ugly rumors are flying thick and fast. Sensational developments are expected.

FELL FROM WINDOW.

White Man Had Frightful Fall Early This Morning on Wharf.

A middle aged white man named Fisher, giving his occupation as that of a carpenter, fell from the second story window of the Holly lodging house at the rear of Front Street market this morning between 12 and 1 o'clock. The man said that he struck on his head when he fell, but he was not seriously injured and did not require the attention of a physician. Policeman T. G. Evans, who is on that beat, heard a cry on the wharf and ran down to ascertain the trouble. He found Fisher on the sidewalk, face up and perfactly conscious, complaining only of being hurt about the ankles, which gives rise to the belief that he fell on his feet instead of his head. Fisher was not drinking and how he fell seems to be a mystery. He was either walking in his sleep or fell asleep while sitting at the window and lost his balance. He did not want to go to the hospital and was assisted by Officer Evans and his partner on the beat back up to his room. The fall was a distance of 20 feet or more, the ground being quite hard where he struck. Fisher has something of a local reputation as a banjo picker.

Parris, of Cedar Grove, Me., according to a letter which reads: "After suffering much with liver and kidney trouble, and becoming greatly discouraged by the failure to find relief, I tried Electric Bitters, and as a result I am a well man today. The first bottle relieved and three bottles completed the cure." Guaranteed best on earth for stomach, liver and kidney torubles, by R .R. Bellamy ,druggist. 50c.
